Please enable Javascript to watch this video HUTCHISON, Okla. - An Oklahoma judge sentenced a local man to six years in federal prison Thursday, for the alleged distribution of child pornography, Johnny Paul Clonts, 40, was arrested in October 2014, after the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) identified Clonts as a distributor of child porn. As part of his plea agreement, Clonts is not allowed to access the internet or possess pornographic material. "At first glance, this defendant may appear to be ordinary, even exceptional, but in reality he exploited children with little regard for human decency," said Eastern District of Oklahoma U.S. Attorney Robert Ballard. Videos of naked children were discovered on the defendant's computers and in his home. The judge said, "You are a sexual predator. You prey upon the innocent and defenseless and you take pleasure in it. You are a monster and you must be sent to prison." Clonts is now being held at the Federal Correctional Institution, located in the heart of Colorado.log files" for stdout? ~~~ th0ma5 I honestly have no idea how to do this, so I think it is more a feature not even a bug, to be honest. ----- amelius is there any site that's not censored by Google's robots.txt? ----- emmanueloga_ The author seems to suggest that there's a superior solution to the problem of prompting serial number entry: just use GPS coordinates. I think this is a bad idea because it: \- You can't enter the serial number by pushing a "button" or by voice (you need to stare at the screen). \- You need to enter the number manually - otherwise the price changes frequently. \- It's easy for someone to skim your code if they're very good at it. \- It's easy for someone to fill your database 6d1f23a050
